Author's testimony. Not a court finding.

Personal Statement of Exile, Institutional Detriment and the Search for Protection

I am carrying what I understand to be the accumulated ethical failure and betrayal of institutions and professions across the country.

I carry the betrayal of former friends and blood family members. I carry the consequences of decisions, omissions, refusals, exclusions and institutional responses that, in my account, have progressively stripped away relationships, financial security, housing security, professional standing, legal access, autonomy and the ordinary protections that a citizen should be able to expect.

I am in political exile within the democracy of my own citizenship.

I describe myself as an unprotected whistleblower because I have repeatedly attempted to disclose matters of public interest and obtain protection, legal assistance, recognition and an accountable response. The archive I have assembled preserves correspondence, government records, public-interest disclosures, chronology, testimony, evidence pathways and institutional responses across these issues. Its central proposition is not that people should simply believe me, but that the underlying record should be examined.

I am not a criminal.

What I am describing is what I say has been occurring to me: a prolonged process of institutional, financial, social, professional and psychological detriment in which the mechanisms that should provide protection or redress have, in my experience, instead become mechanisms of containment.

The archive itself maps alleged mechanisms including administrative annihilation, exile, denial of legal aid, character assassination and institutional obstruction. It expressly describes these as an analytical model and allegation-and-evidence framework rather than established criminal findings.

Isolation and accommodation

I am isolated and entrapped in accommodation. I cannot escape in any meaningful practical sense.

I have no lease to Ablepoint.

My position is that Ablepoint, as an NDIS provider, has financially benefited from my treatment and containment while maintaining that I am free to leave. In practical terms, however, I say that I have no financial mechanism by which I can actually leave, no vehicle with which to escape, and nowhere viable to go.

The distinction between being technically free to leave and possessing the practical means to leave is central to my complaint.

I ask that this distinction be examined against the documentary record, including financial records, accommodation records, NDIS records, correspondence and other evidence contained in the archive.

Alleged crimes and the allegation matrix

The Barran Dodger archive contains a dedicated section titled Crimes against Barran Dodger — Master Allegation and Evidence Matrix (1–150). I present these matters as allegations requiring examination. The existence of an allegation, document, correspondence, transcript or other material does not itself establish criminal liability.

I ask that the matrix and the underlying primary materials be examined rather than accepted or dismissed without review.

Electronic harassment and what I report as V2K

I report that I am electronically intercepted, harassed and surveilled with what I describe as unacknowledged V2K technology.

I describe this as a deliberate technique of torture manifesting as audio harassment, including what I report as 24-hour blasphemous slurs intended to attack my sense of self.

These are my reported experiences and allegations. I do not present the existence or mechanism of the technology as an independently established fact.

I ask that these reports be distinguished from psychiatric interpretations of them and, where possible, independently investigated rather than automatically treated as symptoms of mental illness.

I have published a YouTube recording of TV Wi-Fi audio harassment as part of this record.

Mental health treatment and the CTO

A mental-health Community Treatment Order mandates my forced medication as the panacea for my treatment while, as I allege, refusing to acknowledge the entire situation described in this statement and the circumstances that I say are contributing to my distress.

My concern is that the medication framework may address my reported distress without independently examining the circumstances I allege are causing or contributing to that distress.

I ask that this distinction be examined rather than assuming that every reported experience is explained by a psychiatric diagnosis.

NSW Trustee and Guardian and access to justice

I allege that NSW Trustee and Guardian are gatekeepers to what I describe as my financial destruction.

I further allege that financial administration and restrictions have actively contributed to circumstances in which access to legal assistance is effectively blocked, creating what I describe as a total legal-aid barrier and fundamentally restricting possible pathways to justice.

These are serious allegations.

I ask that they be assessed against the actual financial records, decisions, correspondence, applications for assistance, legal-aid responses and available review mechanisms rather than being accepted or rejected without examination.

Companion animal — Crystal

I allege mistreatment and detriment affecting my companion and therapy dog, Crystal, whom God gifted me as company, friend, alarm, support, sage, mystic and healer.

I ask that the treatment of a vulnerable person and his companion animal be examined without prejudice against the documentary record.

The central proposition

I am not asking for justice through belief in me.

I am asking for justice through examination of the evidence.

The archive exists because I have reached the point at which my own testimony alone is insufficient. I have therefore preserved documents, correspondence, government records, chronology, declarations, evidence pathways and analytical material so that other people can examine them.

The archive's own methodology requires a hierarchy: judicial or official determinations, primary government records, contemporaneous correspondence and logs, secondary compilations and AI synthesis, and finally author testimony and prophetic statements. It expressly instructs that allegations, inferences and interpretations must never silently become facts.

That principle is important to me.

I want my claims tested.

I want the documents tested.

I want the institutional responses tested.

I want the chronology tested.

I want the legal propositions tested.

And I want the same evidentiary standard applied to the institutions and professionals whose decisions have shaped my life as is applied to me.

If the record is wrong, show me where.

If the record is right, answer it.

Do not answer allegation with assertion.

Do not answer evidence with dismissal.

Do not substitute a diagnosis for an investigation.

Do not substitute institutional silence for an answer.

Do not substitute poverty for consent.

Do not substitute being technically free to leave for having a genuine means of escape.

Do not substitute the existence of a procedure for meaningful access to justice.

Read the record.

Examine the evidence.

Challenge it where it is wrong.

Corroborate it where it is right.

And where the evidence establishes something that requires investigation, investigate it.

The witness remains. The record remains. And the record remains open to correction — but correction itself must be evidenced.
