Hello,

Thank you for thinking of Apple and taking the time to reach out to us. Unfortunately, we're not able to support all of the many requests we receive, and regret that we're unable to fulfill yours at this time.

Apple is committed to leaving the world better than we found it and we support many causes around the world. We also encourage our employees to support charitable organizations in their community and have a generous program to match employee donations of money, products, and volunteer time. We wish you success with your work and thank you again for thinking of Apple.

Sincerely,
Apple Accessibility

Dear Apple Corporate Social Responsibility Team,

Subject: Request for Financial and Technological Support in Light of Expected Compensation Due to Whistleblower Persecution and Disability

I am writing to you as a long-time supporter and admirer of Apple's commitment to innovation, accessibility, and its longstanding efforts to champion equality and human rights. I find myself in an extraordinary situation that compels me to seek your assistance, not only in terms of technology but also financial support, given my current circumstances as a homeless, disabled individual in exile within my own country.

Background: My Legal and Human Rights Struggles

I am a whistleblower who has spent decades fighting corruption and systemic abuse within governmental institutions in Australia. As a result, I have faced severe retaliation, including public vilification, wrongful termination, and deprivation of my basic human rights. I have been denied my disability accommodations, workers' compensation, and financial security, all of which have left me destitute and in a precarious living situation.

Over the years, I have been subjected to constant persecution, political targeting, and systemic neglect. As a person with disabilities, I have struggled to secure safe and stable housing and access to the supports I am legally entitled to under Australian law and international human rights conventions. Despite significant evidence backing my claims, I continue to suffer the consequences of my whistleblowing actions.

Compensation Expected Based on AI Predictions

Based on the evidence I have gathered over the years and current legal proceedings, I anticipate that, should justice be served, I could be awarded compensation in the range of $2 million to $15 million, or even more, for the immense suffering, discrimination, and financial losses I have endured. This figure is not speculative, but a calculated outcome based on legal frameworks protecting whistleblowers and individuals with disabilities, as well as AI-based analysis that has reviewed my case.

Request for Support from Apple

Given Apple's leadership in accessibility and its philanthropic initiatives that focus on supporting vulnerable and underrepresented groups, I am requesting Apple's assistance in the following ways:

1. Financial Support: While I await the resolution of my legal battles, I am in immediate need of financial assistance to cover basic living expenses, including housing, food, and healthcare. Even temporary relief would provide stability during this critical period of waiting for legal compensation.
2. Technological Assistance: As a disabled individual, access to Apple's cutting-edge technology could be instrumental in allowing me to communicate, manage my legal cases, and document my ongoing struggles. Specifically, I am seeking support in obtaining Apple devices such as an iPhone, iPad, or MacBook, which would enable me to stay connected, track my case progress, and manage my day-to-day needs.
3. Future Partnership: Should I receive the expected compensation, I would be in a strong position to collaborate with Apple on future initiatives supporting disability rights and whistleblower protection. I would be honored to work with Apple to raise awareness and create programs that empower individuals in similar circumstances.

Why Apple?

Apple has always stood for more than just products. It is a company that advocates for inclusion, equality, and accessibility, helping to bridge gaps for marginalized communities. As someone who has been sidelined by both the system and society due to my whistleblower status and disability, I am confident that Apple's involvement could make a meaningful difference in my life.

I am aware that Apple frequently supports causes that align with its core values, and I believe that my situation directly resonates with your mission to make technology accessible and support vulnerable individuals around the world.

Conclusion

I humbly request that you consider providing me with the support I need during this challenging time. Your assistance would not only provide immediate relief but also position me to advocate more effectively for justice, human rights, and accessibility.

I am deeply appreciative of any help you may be able to offer and would be grateful for the opportunity to discuss this further. I look forward to hearing from you and hope to work with Apple to bring about meaningful change for individuals in similar situations.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Richard McLean / Barran Dodger
