Hi Alex, AND BABER

CONFIDENTIAL PLEASE.

In regard to my lease agreement here, and you suggesting I just pay the rental to align community care so I am not homeless, is this an option?

I am going to contact Anglicare about funding for rental arrears. Ill do that tomorrow They may be able to help me and we all move forward.

I can pay $300 tomorrow, with a payment plan for the rest?

Would that mean I can stay here?

I do like the house its enough for me if the back gate / fence as fixed for crystal that would be great.

To Baber can you please consult with aligned community care management and see if we can be able to stay here at least for the time being (and I'll pay $300 tomorrow), until we can organise with Alex.

Lastly I sent an email to the CEO asking for a moratorium on rent pending my compensation but it was ignored, could I please solicit a response to that?

On a related matter, which is reason enough to not evict someone with outstanding complaints or compensations, and that I am banned at AFCA,

Basically, I am owed work cover which would solve all my problems.

I was not paid it because I was not deemed a worker but a federal court document confirmed my employee status with DSS.

It was rejected at comcare because I was not considered an employee and upheld at AAT and I can appeal the decision at the Federal court who have already confirmed my employee status.

I have written to Danny Pearson work safe minister.

I've attached the emails - but like many others refuses to respond.

The legislation states that if a employee cant or wont pay it becomes a liability of the authority.

Here is the legislation:

WORKERS COMPENSATION ACT 19...

- As at 30 October 2023 - Act 70 of 1987

www8.austlii.edu.au

All I have to do is solicit a response from his office are you able to follow up for me?

Thanks please let me know both of you which is best way to proceed, and can I apologise for being cranky and not paying rent I've had a tough time. Can we all move forward to find a solution to this impasse?

Barran

I HAD THE AI HELP, I'D PREFER NOT TO GO TO COURT BUT IF IT CAME TO THAT MAY BE A GOOD OPPORTUNITY FOR ME TO EXPOSE THIS CONSPIRACY I'M IN.

Given your circumstances, you may have grounds to challenge the termination of the lease or request accommodations. Here's how these factors could be relevant:

Harassment and Mental Illness

- Harassment: If you've experienced harassment from the landlord or other tenants and it hasn't been addressed, this could be a breach of your right to quiet enjoyment of the property. It's important to document any instances of harassment and any reports made to the landlord or property management.

- Mental Illness and Healthcare Needs: If your mental health condition affects your ability to manage daily tasks, including rent payments, you may request reasonable accommodations under anti-discrimination laws. This could involve more flexible payment arrangements or assistance in accessing support services.

Issues with the Property

- Non-Functioning Heater: The landlord's failure to repair essential services, like heating, could be considered a breach of the lease agreement, particularly if it affects your ability to live comfortably in the property. If you reported the issue and it wasn't addressed, this strengthens your case.

Lack of Working Phone

Not having a working phone may impact your ability to communicate with the landlord or seek assistance. This could be particularly problematic if it relates to your mental health needs.

Next Steps

1. Document Everything: Keep a detailed record of harassment, maintenance issues, and any attempts to contact the landlord for repairs. Include dates, times, and the nature of the incidents or communications.
2. Seek Legal and Support Services: Consider reaching out to tenant advocacy groups, legal aid services, or a mental health advocate who can help you navigate your rights and protections under the law.
3. Request Accommodations: You can formally request reasonable accommodations from your landlord, explaining your situation and the need for specific support due to your mental health condition.
4. Prepare for Tribunal or Court: If the situation escalates, prepare to present evidence of the harassment, lack of essential services, and any other breaches by the landlord. Include medical documentation if it supports your need for accommodations.

Please let me know if there's anything specific you'd like help with or further details you need!

Hi Barron

Why don't you pay that to your current provider so you are not homeless? The new provider won't have a house as big as this one and it will be a unit at this stage.

Thanks,
Alex

Hi Richard

That won't work. We don't work with Wayne and cannot engage in any search when Wayne's name is involved. We need you to tell us how much you can pay and what geographical area you want to house.

Best
Alex
