

The document titled "A Certain Beauty in Un-resolution..." is an artistic portfolio by Rich McLean. It begins with a tribute to unconventional thinkers, credited to Rob Siltanen, that celebrates misfits and rebels who push society forward by thinking differently.

The portfolio spans a significant number of pages, indicating an extensive collection of work. However, many pages are blank or contain minimal content, hinting at a possible conceptual approach or incomplete compilation.

The final pages suggest that the reader can view physical versions, prints, or collected works by visiting McLean's website. A note mentions that the work was to be associated with a Doctor of Philosophy at Victoria University, Melbourne, coming in 2019.

Overall, the portfolio presents itself as a tribute to the art of the unresolved and the beauty found within it, embodying a unique and unconventional artistic vision.
