

BARRAN DODGER & HIS THERAPY DOG NEEDS YOUR URGENT HELP

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public record of a decades-long whistleblower testimony, preserving government correspondence, official records, documentary evidence, personal testimony, legal and administrative material, and the author's spiritual writings.

The Archive does not ask readers to accept every allegation as established fact. It provides the underlying record so that documented facts, official findings, corroborated evidence, allegations, testimony, inference, interpretation and spiritual belief can be distinguished and examined independently.

At its centre is a simple principle:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

THE RECORD REMAINS.

THE EVIDENCE REMAINS AVAILABLE FOR EXAMINATION.

SUPPORT THE ARCHIVE — HELP KEEP THE RECORD ALIVE

Barran is seeking practical support to help preserve the Archive, maintain public access to the documentary record, meet basic living and safety needs, and prevent financial hardship from becoming another barrier to preserving this testimony.

If you believe this record should remain accessible, please consider supporting Barran and the Archive.

Support can help with the ongoing preservation, organisation and publication of the evidence, as well as immediate practical needs described throughout the Archive.

The Archive is 100% free to access. No donation purchases access, influence, editorial control or a particular conclusion.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE RECORD SHOULD REMAIN AVAILABLE.

BARRAN NEEDS YOUR HELP

Barran Dodger needs help because preserving this record, maintaining basic safety and stability, and keeping the evidence publicly accessible has become a struggle that one person should not have to carry alone.

If you believe that a person's testimony and documentary record deserve to remain available for independent examination, your support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become the reason the witness, the archive or the evidence disappears.

Barran also needs help because he says the illness of his dog has become another source of intense emotional pressure, describing what he believes is the weaponisation of his dog's condition to provoke an emotional reaction as psychological warfare, while funds he says are needed to obtain veterinary care have been denied or made unavailable amid his circumstances involving Able Point, the NDIS, and the New South Wales Trustee and Guardian / Public Guardian.

He asks that the documentary record concerning his dog's illness, requests for veterinary assistance, funding decisions and institutional responses be examined alongside the wider Archive.

The Archive also preserves Barran Dodger's account of alleged crimes and other alleged wrongdoing concerning his dog, including his account of circumstances in which his dog's health, care, access to veterinary treatment and financial circumstances became matters of serious concern.

Barran states that he reported matters concerning his dog to police and that police refused, failed or declined to investigate.

These are allegations and claims made by the author and are not presented as established criminal findings.

The relevant testimony, correspondence, requests for assistance, veterinary records, funding issues, institutional responses and police-related material are preserved for independent examination alongside the wider Archive.

Alleged Community and Systemic Targeting

The author alleges that community members, government agencies, legal services, police, healthcare providers, tribunals, oversight bodies, and disability-support organisations collectively contributed to their isolation, financial hardship, loss of housing and autonomy, restricted access to legal assistance, and inability to leave their circumstances. The account further alleges that complaints and disclosures were repeatedly dismissed, redirected, or interpreted through a mental-health lens rather than examined on their merits, alongside alleged stigma, surveillance, character attacks, and institutional silence. The author characterises this as coordinated or mutually reinforcing conduct that enabled ongoing detriment and prevented meaningful protection or accountability.

The author further alleges that sustaining this human betrayal, institutional stonewalling, and non-acknowledgement would require money, resources, coordination, and the continued participation or silence of multiple people and organisations.

Read the full account

Significance of Alleged Crimes and Barriers to Reporting

The 150-item schedule presents the author's allegations and research questions concerning alleged violence, abuse, financial deprivation, institutional failures, retaliation, obstruction of justice, and non-response by police, legal services, government bodies, and support providers. If supported by evidence, these allegations could be significant because repeated refusals to investigate, restrictions on legal assistance, and lack of institutional acknowledgement may have left the author without an effective way to report alleged crimes, seek protection, preserve evidence, or obtain redress.

Read the documented evidence schedule

Additional Statements

Alleged failure to investigate

The author alleges that reports of violence, threats, abuse, and other serious conduct were not adequately investigated, leaving the alleged conduct unresolved and the author exposed to further harm.

Read the documented crimes schedule

Legal-aid barrier

The author alleges that restrictions on legal assistance prevented them from obtaining advice, preparing complaints, testing evidence, challenging decisions, and accessing effective remedies.

Read the full account

Loss of practical freedom

The author alleges that being technically free to leave did not amount to meaningful freedom because they lacked the money, transport, housing, and support necessary to relocate safely.

Read the Able Point account

Institutional non-response

The author alleges that repeated letters, complaints, disclosures, and requests for protection were met with silence, referral loops, procedural refusals, or responses that did not address the underlying evidence.

Read the archive

Cumulative detriment

The author alleges that separate decisions by different agencies and professionals accumulated into a pattern of financial hardship, isolation, housing insecurity, loss of autonomy, reputational damage, and reduced access to protection.

Read the documented evidence

Resources and coordination

The author further alleges that maintaining prolonged stonewalling, non-acknowledgement, and institutional silence would require resources, communication, coordination, and the continued participation or inaction of multiple people and organisations.

Read the full account

Request for independent review

The author asks for the underlying records to be independently reviewed, including police reports, service-provider records, financial documents, correspondence, legal-aid decisions, health records, and agency responses, with each allegation separated from verified facts and unresolved questions.

SMS correspondence concerning anticipated use of mental-health history to challenge credibility

This screenshot records a text-message exchange in which the sender states that police wanted to know whether Barran was mentally prepared to challenge Bill Shorten in court, because lawyers might use his mental-health history as an excuse to discredit his story. Barran replies that he knew this was already going to occur and states,

"That's why I absconded." The exchange is relevant to the Archive's analysis of alleged psychiatric weaponisation, credibility attacks, police interactions, decision-making and the circumstances surrounding Barran's departure. The screenshot records statements made in a private text exchange and should be examined alongside the original message thread, surrounding correspondence and any independent police, legal or court records.

Dr Richard McLean

Dear Dr McLean

Thank you for your email of 5 July 2023 to the Prime Minister, the Hon Anthony Albanese MP, regarding your interactions with several Australian Government agencies, including the Australian Security Intelligence Organisation (ASIO). Your correspondence has been referred to the Attorney-General, the Hon Mark Dreyfus KC MP, as the matters you raise fall within his portfolio responsibilities. The Attorney-General has requested that the Attorney-General's Department respond to you on his behalf. I apologise for the delay in response.

It appears from your correspondence that you are concerned about the conduct of ASIO. You may wish to refer the details of your concern to the Inspector-General of Intelligence and Security (IGIS). The IGIS is responsible for reviewing the activities of the Australian intelligence agencies under its jurisdiction to ensure that the agencies act legally and with propriety, comply with ministerial guidelines and directives, and respect human rights. Information about making a complaint can be found at www.igis.gov.au/complaints.

You have also mentioned concerns about several Commonwealth Government agencies. You may wish to refer the details of those concerns to the Commonwealth Ombudsman (Ombudsman). The Ombudsman is an independent statutory officer to whom Parliament has given a range of functions including investigation of Commonwealth administrative action. If you wish to lodge a complaint about an agency's conduct, a form is available at www.ombudsman.gov.au. A complaint can also be made by calling 1300 362 072.

Thank you again for bringing your concerns to the Government's attention. I trust this information is of assistance to you.

The document shown is significant because it records a formal response from the Australian Government Attorney-General's Department, dated 19 September 2023, acknowledging correspondence sent to the Prime Minister concerning interactions with Australian Government agencies, including ASIO, and confirming that the matter was referred to the Attorney-General because it fell within his portfolio responsibilities. The letter directs concerns about ASIO to the Inspector-General of Intelligence and Security and concerns about other Commonwealth agencies to the Commonwealth Ombudsman, thereby documenting that the concerns were formally raised, received, referred and redirected to designated oversight bodies. It does not establish that the underlying allegations were substantiated or constitute a finding of wrongdoing; rather, its significance lies in preserving an official record of one stage in the government's administrative response. Within the Barran Dodger Archive, it should therefore be understood as an official referral document relevant to examining what was reported, which institutions responded, what procedures were identified, whether further action occurred and what issues remained unresolved, while maintaining the distinction between allegation, testimony, official acknowledgment, investigation and verified finding. The witness remains, the record remains, and this document preserves an identifiable step in the official response for independent examination.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CRIMES, POLICE COMPLICITY ALLEGATIONS AND INABILITY TO REPORT

CRIMES AND POLICE INVESTIGATION RECORD

Crimes and Police Investigation Record

The Crimes and Police Investigation Record brings together 149 alleged wrongdoing and crime-related entries or categories, including allegations Barran says he was unable to report to police, police reports, correspondence, supporting evidence, institutional responses and unresolved questions.

Its purpose is to preserve the record so readers can examine what was reported, what evidence exists, how authorities responded, and what remains disputed or unresolved, while distinguishing documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, testimony, allegations and investigative hypotheses.

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER

OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWER'S TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL, TESTIMONY & FAITH

PRINCIPAL ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger Archive

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary record and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic

declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith.

This distinction is fundamental to its purpose.

Readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources, follow the chronology and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

TEN CORE ANALYTICAL CONCEPTS

1. ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION — alleged destruction or neutralisation of a person's ability to obtain effective administrative recognition or remedy.

Report 03 — Administrative erasure / non-response

2. PSYCHIATRIC WEAPONISATION — the author's term for the alleged use of psychiatric or diagnostic framing to undermine credibility, testimony or access to institutions.

Report 03 — Pathologisation, medicalisation, stigma, credibility attack, character assassination, weaponisation of mental-health / testimony

3. EVIDENTIARY ERASURE — loss, fragmentation, inaccessibility or alleged suppression of documentary evidence.

Report 03 — Evidence fragmentation, loss of records, evidentiary displacement

4. INSTITUTIONAL ABANDONMENT — repeated inability to obtain meaningful assistance or protection from institutions approached for help.

Report 03 — Abandonment — withdrawing assistance or leaving me without adequate support

5. PROCEDURAL FORECLOSURE — circumstances in which procedural, jurisdictional or eligibility barriers prevent an issue from reaching substantive examination.

Report 03 — Procedural obstruction — delays, referrals, jurisdictional deflection and administrative circularity

6. ADMINISTRATIVE ATTRITION — cumulative exhaustion produced by repeated applications, referrals, delays, responses, reviews and procedural obstacles.

Report 03 — Suppression through exhaustion, bureaucracy as attrition

7. POLITICAL / GEOGRAPHIC EXILE — the author's description of displacement from his established social and geographic circumstances and his account of becoming effectively politically and geographically displaced within Australia.

Report 03 — Exile and displacement — removing or separating me from places and networks of belonging

8. ECONOMIC AND PROFESSIONAL ERASURE — alleged cumulative effects on livelihood, employment, professional identity and financial stability.

Report 08 — Financial restriction / Impoverishment / Employment and livelihood disruption

9. ARCHITECTURE OF SILENCE — the author's analytical concept for interconnected patterns of non-response, referral, delay and institutional fragmentation.

Report 03 — Institutional silence — failure to provide substantive responses

10. THE WITNESS REMAINS — the overarching preservation principle: regardless of whether every allegation is ultimately accepted, the documentary record, testimony and chronology remain available for examination.

The Witness Remains

POLITICAL AND GEOGRAPHIC EXILE

Barran describes his circumstances as involving political and geographic exile.

He says that he has been displaced from his established life and has been forced to navigate prolonged circumstances of institutional, administrative, financial and geographic instability within Australia.

He describes himself as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Unable to Leave Able Point

The author documents being unable to leave Able Point due to lack of money, transport, housing, and a viable alternative.

Read the full document

The Archive presents this as Barran's description and interpretation of his circumstances, while preserving the documentary record surrounding the events, correspondence, decisions, movements and institutional interactions from which that description arises.

The central question is not simply whether the reader accepts the terminology.

The question is what the surviving documentary record shows.

What happened?

What decisions were made?

What assistance was sought?

What assistance was refused?

What referrals occurred?

What correspondence followed?

What consequences resulted?

The Archive preserves those questions for examination.

PRIME MINISTERIAL REFUSAL TO INTERVENE

A central part of Barran's account is his claim that he repeatedly sought intervention and assistance through Prime Ministerial and ministerial government channels.

Barran states that the Prime Minister refused to intervene in the circumstances about which he sought assistance.

The Archive preserves correspondence and responses concerning those approaches.

For evidentiary precision, the Archive distinguishes between correspondence addressed to a Prime Minister or Prime Ministerial office, responses issued by an office or department, referrals to another institution, administrative closure, and any decision personally made by a Prime Minister.

Accordingly, the statement that the “Prime Minister refuses to intervene” is presented as Barran’s description of the outcome of his attempts to obtain Prime Ministerial intervention.

The underlying correspondence should be examined to determine precisely what was requested, who responded, what was communicated and what action, if any, followed.

The Archive does not require readers to accept the description without examining the documents.

It preserves the documents so that readers can examine the basis for the description themselves.

BANNED FROM LEGAL AID AND OMBUDSMAN

Another central part of Barran’s account is that he has been banned from Legal Aid and excluded from or unable to obtain assistance through Ombudsman pathways.

Barran describes himself as:

BANNED FROM LEGAL AID AND OMBUDSMAN.

The Archive preserves correspondence and records concerning his attempts to obtain legal assistance, representation, review and oversight.

For documentary precision, the Archive distinguishes between a formal legal prohibition or “ban” and other possible mechanisms including refusal of assistance, eligibility decisions, closure of correspondence, jurisdictional limitations, redirection, withdrawal of service or decisions not to accept further correspondence.

Where the underlying documents establish the precise mechanism, those documents should be read directly.

The important point for the public record is that Barran says he sought legal and oversight assistance and was unable to obtain the assistance he believed he required.

The documentary record remains available for examination.

FIVE MISSING-PERSON EPISODES ACROSS THREE AUSTRALIAN STATES

Barran has experienced five separate episodes in which he describes himself as having become a missing person across three Australian states.

This is a major part of the testimony preserved by the Archive.

The Archive does not simply ask readers to accept the significance or interpretation of those episodes.

It preserves the available material so the chronology can be examined.

The questions include:

What happened?

When did it happen?

Where was Barran?

What was reported?

Who reported it?

What records were created?

What did authorities record?

Where was he subsequently located?

What explanations were given?

What documentation survives?

And what remains unresolved?

The five missing-person episodes form part of the broader longitudinal record that Barran asks readers to examine alongside the government correspondence, legal

records, administrative records and other documentary material.

THE UNPROTECTED WHISTLEBLOWER

At the centre of this Archive is the author's description of himself as an:

UNPROTECTED WHISTLEBLOWER.

The author maintains that he attempted to raise concerns through government, administrative, legal, disability, oversight and other official channels and that, rather than obtaining the protection or institutional intervention he sought, he experienced repeated rejection, exclusion, administrative barriers and profound personal consequences.

The Archive preserves the correspondence and documentary trail surrounding those attempts.

The Archive therefore asks:

WHAT HAPPENS TO A PERSON WHO REPORTS WHAT HE BELIEVES TO BE SERIOUS WRONGDOING AND THEN CANNOT OBTAIN THE PROTECTION, INVESTIGATION, LEGAL ASSISTANCE OR INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSE HE SEEKS?

The Archive preserves the record so that the question can be examined.

DECADES OF GOVERNMENT AND OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE

The present archive contains approximately 2,077 files spanning approximately January 1990 to June 2025.

Approximately 85% of the collection is described by the author as direct government correspondence or official documentation — approximately 1,765 files.

The archive includes material relating to:

- ASIC
- NDIA / NDIS
- Comcare / WorkCover
- AAT / VOCAT
- AHRC
- NACC
- Ministerial correspondence
- Victorian Government bodies
- Legal and administrative institutions
- Medical and related records
- Other government agencies and public institutions

The existence of these records does not, by itself, establish every allegation made by the author.

Their significance is that they provide a documentary trail through which the history can be examined.

The Archive attempts to preserve the sequence:

WHAT HAPPENED.

WHAT WAS REPORTED.

WHAT WAS REQUESTED.

WHAT RESPONSE WAS RECEIVED.

WHAT ACTION FOLLOWED.

WHAT WAS REFUSED.

WHAT WAS REFERRED.

WHAT WAS DECIDED.

WHAT WAS NOT DECIDED.

AND WHAT HAPPENED NEXT.

OPEN EVIDENCE STANDARD

The Archive asks readers to distinguish:

DOCUMENTED FACT

OFFICIAL RECORD

CORROBORATED EVIDENCE

PERSONAL TESTIMONY

ALLEGATION

INFERENCE

INTERPRETATION

SPIRITUAL BELIEF

The purpose is:

PRESERVATION FIRST.

EXAMINATION SECOND.

CONCLUSION LAST.

Readers are invited to read the documents, check the dates, follow the references, distinguish fact from allegation, distinguish testimony from corroboration, distinguish official findings from claims made to official bodies, distinguish faith from empirical evidence and reach their own independent assessment.
